NOTES

DESCRIPTION

Arranged over three levels, the house offers authentic alpine character with modern flexibility. The property has been thoughtfully renovated to create two self-contained apartments with independent entrances. This versatile configuration makes the property equally appealing as a spacious family residence, a multi-generational Alpine retreat or a home with excellent potential for holiday rental income. The ability to rent each apartment separately is a real advantage as owners can always be assured of their own apartment for personal use while generating rental income from the other.

The main entrance opens into a beautifully appointed farmhouse-style kitchen, complete with a wood-burning stove and attractive original character. From here, a spiral staircase leads to the first floor, where a bright and exceptionally spacious south-facing bedroom enjoys an abundance of natural light. This level also provides a bathroom, separate WC, storage and the second independent entrance.

The ground floor is completed by a charming, vaulted bedroom with en-suite bathroom, creating a particularly atmospheric Alpine bedroom.

The upper apartment is accessed via a separate entrance and wooden staircase. Here, a second kitchen and bathroom accompany the delightful attic-style master bedroom, with its sloping ceilings and intimate Alpine character.

Sliding doors open directly onto the balcony, where superb mountain views provide the perfect backdrop for an evening drink after a day exploring the mountains.
