IN BRIEF

Located in a small hamlet just outside the village of Assais, this property has a lot of potential. Currently all living accommodation is on the upper ground floor but the two large rooms below (which do have natural light) are ready to be renovated to create additional living space. Adjoining the house there is also a large under-utilised boiler room which could serve as a workshop as well as a large barn with a concrete floor. The village of Assais boasts a boulangerie and a restaurant, whilst a full range of amenities can be found at Airvault which is about a 10 minute drive away. The trip to Poitiers with its international airport and tourist attractions takes about 40 minutes. Details as follows:
