NOTES

The Upper Tarentaise is one of the most prestigious and expansive ski regions in the French Alps, known for its world-class resorts, high-altitude terrain, and extensive lift networks. Situated in the Savoie department, this area encompasses some of the most renowned ski destinations in the world, including Val d'Isère, Tignes, Les Arcs, La Plagne, Sainte-Foy-Tarentaise, and La Rosière, each offering a unique character and appeal. The region benefits from excellent snowfall due to its elevation and north-facing slopes, making it a reliable choice for skiers and snowboarders throughout the winter season. The variety of terrain, from gentle beginner slopes to challenging off-piste routes, caters to all levels, while modern lift infrastructure ensures seamless connectivity between vast ski domains.

One of the defining features of the Upper Tarentaise is...
