IN BRIEF

Located in the very centre of the pretty village of Brillac, and probably dating back to the 18th century, this house offers the convenience of being within walking distance of the local baker and village shop, yet has plenty of outside space. The house itself is spacious with high ceilings and offers the potential to create a second dwelling to either expand the main accommodation or use as a gite. Formerly a family home, it would take little effort to make it comfortable, with the possibility of a renovation project should you wish to take it on. The local baker is a very short walk from the house, and the property is ideally located to provide easy access to the larger village of Confolens, the town of St. Junien and Limoges International Airport.
