DESCRIPTION

Enjoy breathtaking views from the garden, overlooking the ruins of the old château and the village church.

This characterful home features a spacious entrance hall (18.6m²) — likely the original part of the house—with an old stone sink set into the window and exposed stone flooring. Ample built-in storage cupboards add practicality to this charming space.

The kitchen (21.7m²) is large enough to accommodate a central dining table, while the generous lounge (54.7m²) boasts an open fireplace and double doors that provides natural light. Also on the ground floor are a WC and a washroom for convenience.

Elegant marble stairs lead to the first floor, where you'll find a bright sitting room (26m²) with access to the conservatory (25m²) and the garden. This level also offers four bedrooms (11.1m², 11.1m², 11.6m², and 11.4m²). One bedroom includes a private sink and bidet, while another has an en-suite shower room. Additionally, there is a family bathroom (5.3m²) and a separate WC.

The attic has been partially converted to create a fifth bedroom under the eaves (8.7m²), accessed via the fourth bedroom. The remaining attic space remains unconverted.

The garden provides gorgeous views over the village and is dotted with mature fruit trees and a traditional well. Behind the garden, a wooded parcel of land sits at an elevated level.

Across the quiet street, the property includes two garages and ample parking.

Modern comforts include double glazing, electric radiators, and connection to the mains drainage system.
