IN BRIEF

A cottage with an attached barn, this renovation project is located in the popular village of Saint-Pierre-de-Frugie in Dordogne's Perigord Vert. Set in the very centre of the village, the property enjoys panoramic views of the local countryside to the rear with no overlook from other properties. Inside the property offers around 170m2 of usable space over 2 floors, with further options to increase living space in the attached barn. The main room on the ground floor is the ideal location for an open-plan lounge, kitchen and diner, with its original bread oven preserved as a feature. Double glazed doors open to the rear of the property to take full advantage of the wonderful views. A new septic tank installation was completed in December 2025, and the property is already connected to water and electricity. The property is...

GROUND FLOOR

MAIN ROOM (60m²)

One enters the property into this large open space ideal for open plan living. A corner for the kitchen has been chosen, with electrical wiring and the water supply already brought to this area. At one end, the original stone bread oven within the stone hearth has been preserved. In another corner, the open access to the first floor awaits the installation of a staircase.

SECOND ROOM (32.8m²)

Leading through from the main room to the left, this area has several waste water pipes installed to one side making it suitable for a WC, bathroom or...
