DESCRIPTION

The spring-fed lake benefits from four natural water inlets, helping maintain excellent water quality throughout the year. Stocked with approximately 110 carp, including specimens reaching up to 78lb and at least five fish over 70lb, the lake will particularly appeal to serious carp fishing enthusiasts.

The lake benefits from a fishing licence valid until 2040. The current owners have welcomed anglers to the site successfully, and bookings are already in place through to 2028.

A key feature of the property is the solar-powered lakeside cabin, allowing comfortable off-grid use while blending perfectly into the natural surroundings. The cabin includes a kitchen area along with a shower room and WC, creating a practical and welcoming base beside the water. WiFi is also installed at the lake. A borehole provides the water supply, adding further independence and practicality to the site. Several smaller cabins positioned around the lake currently serve as useful storage spaces.

Located approximately five minutes away, the owner's house offers character, charm, and excellent potential. Currently under renovation yet already habitable, the property combines original features with comfortable living accommodation.

The entrance hallway immediately catches the eye with its original wooden telephone booth, creating a unique focal point full of personality. To the rear, a kitchen-dining room is currently being renovated, while the main living room offers warmth and atmosphere with exposed stone and brick walls alongside a wood-burning stove. A second kitchen adds further flexibility to the layout.

Upstairs are three bedrooms, all featuring wooden flooring, together...
