IN BRIEF

A quirky and characterful 40 m² hideaway offering near off-grid living with 5 kW solar power, mains water and a septic tank. Inside, the space is simple and inviting, with wooden floors, travertine tiles, a small shower room, WC, and a mezzanine sleeping area. There's room to add a kitchen to your own taste and space for a stove to heat the property. With parking, a garden to develop, and pretty Monpazier just a short cycle or drive away, this is the ideal low-cost lock-up-and-leave for anyone seeking peace, charm and low running costs.

NOTES

DESCRIPTION

Sitting on the edge of Lot-et-Garonne and Dordogne, this is a perfect place to explore the famous medieval bastide towns, chateaux and enjoy the slow pace of life, the history and the local gastronomy.

This is a perfect opportunity to pick up a retreat from busy life, either for holidays or for off-grid living.

A car port has a roof composed of solar panels generating 5kw of power and a battery array offers 5kWh of storage for night time use.

The house comprises of a lower ground floor (20 sqm) with outside terrace overlooking the garden. Travertine tiles provide the perfect base for a kitchen diner (to be chosen and fitted by the buyer) with power points and water connections ready. There is an adjacent shower room with toilet and hand basin.

Stairs lead up to a living room with views over the garden and an entrance door to the front of the house.

Above, there is a loft storage space and a second loft space which could take a double bed. As this is not head height space, it has not been included in the total floor area.

The gardens run down to a stream and could be arranged as lawns or a combination of spaces including vegetable plots.
