DESCRIPTION

In the town of L'Aigle, in the Orne department of Normandy, this elegant character home offers a rare combination of town living, outdoor space and generous interior volumes.

Built in flint and roofed with traditional small tiles, the property immediately conveys the charm of an older Normandy residence. With approx. 291 m² of habitable space arranged over several levels, it offers a flexible layout suited to family life, entertaining, working from home or use as a spacious second home.

The entrance opens into a well-proportioned ground floor featuring a living room with fireplace, a fitted kitchen and a veranda, creating a pleasant connection between the interior and the outside areas. A bedroom with private shower room and WC completes this level, adding the comfort of ground-floor accommodation.

The first floor continues the family layout with a central landing, several bedrooms, a study, and bathroom/shower facilities. The second floor offers additional rooms, a shower room with WC, a workshop and attic space, giving the house further flexibility depending on the buyer's needs.

The full basement extends beneath the house and provides practical storage and service areas. Outside, the property is set on 1,251 m² of land, with a rear garden/courtyard, swimming pool and a small tiled-roof outbuilding used as a garden shelter.

A character property in L'Aigle, where space, charm and outdoor areas come together to create an elegant Normandy setting.
