DESCRIPTION

A delightful front garden with double gates from the street allows for private parking for up to four cars as well as planting with trees - a gorgeous magnolia, a mimosa, plus lavender and honeysuckle. There is a terrace and a water feature paved in mosaic tiles.

A large arched opening with wrought-iron gates gives access to the entrance lobby of the house. The spacious living room (33m<sup>2</sup>) has plenty of large windows, and is heated not only by the cast-iron radiators linked to the newly-installed pellet boiler but also by a modern woodburning stove to give a deliciously cosy sensation in winter! The floors of the main house are all marble-tiled, except for the kitchen and bathroom.

The traditional timber-doored kitchen, with large east-facing windows, again recently installed, has state-of-the-art integrated electrical goods and a mosaic-tiled floor. A door with a lobby leads to the garden. The study/bedroom of 12.45m<sup>2</sup> overlooks the garden, and there is a WC with basin nearby.

From the entrance lobby, three steps give access to the 27m<sup>2</sup> bedroom suite with a bamboo floor, glazed triple doors leading to the terrace and gardens with no overlooking, and a dressing area and a bathroom with balnéo, shower, WC and two washbasins.

From the lobby there is also access to the cellar, which houses the pellet boiler, a wine cave, and two access points to the vide sanitaire, a ventilated space under the house. Outside, next to the house, is the storage silo, which...
